

Movie Review: Transformers: Revenge of the Fallen

Contributed by Nick Jones
Friday, 03 July 2009

Friday, July 3, 2009
Desert IMAX Theatre
Cathedral City, California

Review by Desert Cities Guides Movie Guide Nick Jones

Oh, Michael Bay. You, sir, are quite the interesting director. It's a love hate thing with you. "The Rock," love! "Pearl Harbor," not so much. The first "Transformers," good job! "Transformers: Revenge of the Fallen," not up to par. Besides its over-the-top length (149 minutes), ridiculous plot holes and racist stereotypes, its major flaw is the attempt at comedy. The movie pulled a Jar-Jar Binks. Instead of trying to wow the audience with the technical mastery of its computer-generated robots, Bay was more focused on trying to pull out laughs. But all that aside, the movie is a visual and audio masterpiece. The film looks amazing, the bots sound unreal and the film looks like its price tag of $200 million.